Up to 33 scientists from different disciplines will endorse and cooperate in the implementation of the actions proposed in the Maresme Energy Transition and Climate Action Strategy [1], designed by ERF. The committee's first day of debate was held on February 17; the event included the presentation of the Strategy by Carla Garcia [2], ERF's environmental consultant.

During the next four months, the committee will draw up a list of specific actions adapted and focused on the reality of Maresme, which will subsequently allow a participatory process to be started to specify the prioritization of actions.
